INT. LIBRARY

A young woman, STUDENT, sits at a table. She stares intently into a book.

STUDENT (V.O.)

It is by caffeine alone I set my mind in motion. It is by the dew of the mountain that thoughts acquire speed. The hands acquire shaking. The shaking becomes a warning. It is by caffeine alone I set my mind in motion.

A nearby waste basket is full of Mountain Dew bottles. The student takes a drink from a Mountain Dew bottle.

STUDENT (V.O.) (CONT'D)

It is by caffeine alone I set my mind in motion. It is by the dew of the mountain that thoughts acquire speed. The hands acquire shaking. The shaking becomes a warning. It is by caffeine alone I set my mind in motion.

The student groans and hangs her head.

CUT TO:

A bottle of Mountain Dew sits on a table.

SUPER: Do the Dew.
